

Media Release

For immediate issue:

Romina Puma presents: Cook it how you like, it's still a potato!

Storytelling and stand-up comedy

From the 4th of August, Romina Puma takes her second solo show to the Edinburgh Fringe Festival; every day, not Sundays, at 12:00PM (noon) at The Finnegan's Wake, the back room.

Words

After Not disabled...Enough! Romina comes back to Edinburgh with a brand new show. Derived from an Italian saying, "Cook it how you like, it's still a potato" is an expression for the many words and the articulate ways we keep coming up with to describe and sometimes disguise something, without in fact changing its meaning. To the point where, when it comes to disability, at times now even Romina is confused about how to describe herself!

About Romina Puma

Romina was born in Germany and at the age of nine she moved to Italy. She has lived in the UK for 6 years. She started to perform in Italy in 2009. In 2012 she created a mixed Italian and English comedy lab called The London Puma to introduce Italian audiences to stand-up comedy. Since 2013 she also started to perform in English. This is her second solo show.

Cook it how you like, it's still a potato! details:

Dates: 4 - 27 August 2016 Not Sundays

Time: 12:00 - 13:00

Venue: Laughing Horse @ The Finnegan's Wake, the back room (part of the Laughing Horse Free Festival) - 9b Victoria Street, Edinburgh, EH1 2HE

Tickets: FREE entry

Website: www.facebook.com/romina.puma

Twitter: @rominapuma

Media contacts:

Romina Puma

Phone: 07402 036 837

Email: romina.puma@gmail.com