

Musical Comedy Sisters
FLO & JOAN
present
'VICTORY FLAPS'
4-21 August at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival

British musical comedy duo, and sisters Nicola and Rosie Dempsey are making their international debut as Flo & Joan at the 2016 Edinburgh Fringe Festival with their show 'Victory Flaps'.

'Victory Flaps' is fifty-five minutes of brilliant, witty, original music confronting issues the pair encounters as young females; body image, free speech, finger buffets, Matthew McConaughey, animal noises, and beyond. With a style that sits confidently cross-legged between Tom Lehrer and Victoria Wood, and one row behind Flight of the Conchords, no two of their songs sound or smell the same.

Flo & Joan are a hugely popular, sought-after act in Toronto, and with a dedicated online following, performing to sold-out audiences and headlining shows across the city. They are bringing their lightning-fast lyrics, sharp satire and no ukuleles to the Edinburgh Fringe Festival for their international debut.

Having left the UK in 2014 to train with the Second City, iO and Bad Dog Theatres in Chicago and Toronto, Nicola and Rosie independently performed improv, sketch and stand-up around the city (Second City HouseCo/Musical Director) before succumbing to their genetic ties and uniting to create Flo & Joan. They are now one of the most in-demand and successful acts of the Toronto comedy scene with acclaimed performances at the Toronto Sketch Comedy Festival (Best of the Fest Showcase), Montréal Sketchfest (Best of the Fest Selection), SheDOT Festival, and as part of JFL42.

Flo & Joan are a musical comedy duo and actual sisters Nicola and Rosie Dempsey. Based in Toronto and born of the UK, the piano/percussion pair writes lyrically dexterous original songs that blend sinister and silly, keeping their music light and libretto dark.
