

Present Company Included
and the Free Edinburgh Festival Present

PUPPET FICTION

"Tarantino meets Thunderbirds" – The Guardian
"pure comedy genius" - aussietheatre.com
"fresh and funny" - Sydney Morning Herald

Everybody be cool, this is a mothercking puppet show! The ultimate Tarantino homage, this is Pulp Fiction with strings attached. The award-winning cult show from New Zealand returns to the Edinburgh Fringe with more miniature madness and mayhem. Combining the joy of live puppetry with an iconic piece of pop culture creates a unique and hilarious theatrical experience. Performed by puppet master Jon Coddington, actress Anya Tate-Manning, award-winning Welsh/Samoan comedian James Nokise and twenty handmade marionettes. Performed around the world since 2012, this show promises to be something special.

Directed by Hannah Clarke and brought to you by Present Company Included.

Playing in three episodes; "Vincent Vega and Marcellus Wallace's Wife" (Tues/Fri), "The Gold Watch" (Wed/Sat) and "The Bonnie Situation" (Thurs/Sun). Come once for a single episode, or three times to see the whole film.

Contact at puppetfictionshow@gmail.com www.puppetfiction.net or @puppetfiction

The Newsroom, 5 - 11 Leith Street

(Venue 93) 4th-28th Aug, 12pm.

Performances are unticketed, part of the Free Edinburgh Fringe Festival

"Vincent Vega and Marcellus Wallace's Wife" (Tues/Fri) "The Gold Watch" (Wed/Sat)

"The Bonnie Situation" (Thurs/Sun). Come once for a slice, or three times for the whole blueberry pie!