

EDINBURGH FRINGE FESTIVAL 2018

Kiki Vita presents GRUMPY PANTS

All the way from Spain, Kiki Vita presents Grumpy Pants as part of the Laughing Horse Free Festival. A 45 minute children's show, that is designed to entertain parents alongside kids with a mix of perfectly crafted juggling routines, clowning, physical comedy and fork throwing! Yes forks!

Grumpy Pants invites the audience into an eccentric and intimate world, where everyday objects such as suitcases, glasses of water and frisbees are brought to life in experimental juggling routines. A bizarre and off beat character Grumpy Pants communicates through his expressive rubber skin, words and sounds and the fourth wall is broken from beginning to end, as the audience, both children and adults, are encouraged to be part of the show from the moment they enter. Grumpy Pants finishes with a highly skilled fork throwing finale act that brings delight to everyone in the audience.

Kiki has performed in over 25 countries including Kosovo, Kuwait and Fiji, appearing at events such as Adelaide Fringe, Canadian National Exhibition and Glastonbury Festival. An accomplished traditional juggler with a unique style that is dedicated to a more contemporary form of object manipulation - bringing everyday objects to life and incorporating them in his juggling routines. A proud self proclaimed 'professional stupid', he is dedicated to exploring the stupidity in everything and the everyday.

"His generous and warm-hearted clowning doesn't falter for a minute... Mr Vita is a consummate professional and charismatic performer who can entertain the whole family."
